

Evolving with Customer Needs for Managing Video

Industry Problems:

- Increased need for 24/7 video surveillance for all entrances and hallways.
- Rising patient liability.
- Integration of video and access control to monitor, but not restrict, access.
- Shrinking security budgets.
- Securing multiple building/campus environment.
- Drug theft

How we can help/Solutions:

Dedicated Micros provides digital video management designed exclusively for the rigors of 24/7 recording. Our digital video recorders have reliability built-in, at a cost that is compatible with shrinking healthcare budgets. The scalable product line allows you to build surveillance systems to suit multiple facility environments. And with the benefits of digital recording, instant access to any incident is at your fingertips.

Security and key personnel can have the dual benefits of viewing video at the security station, or remotely on a network from a desktop computer. All video uses encryption to prevent tampering with recordings, an important feature when combating rising liability claims.
